Go Green in Zwinktopia with these eco-friendly activities!

I am so excited! Something very near and dear to my heart is happening in Zwinktopia and I just can't contain my excitement!

You may remember a post I wrote not too long ago spotlighting how to copy a fantastic environmental room design by zizo31. One of the things I really loved about that project was that she decided to go green in Zwinky "out of the blue." She truly made an every day Earth Day.

Now, with the official Earth Day coming up April 22, being green is really going to be in Zwinky style. I'm sure we're going to be seeing some incredible, Earth-conscious projects popping up! And I can't wait!

To get started, I thought I'd offer up a few ways you can celebrate.

Get yours at Webfetti.com

1. Spread the word!
First, get your profile page good and green. I'm not just talking about the color scheme here! Let everyone know you care about the worlds we live and play in by adding some green glitter from Webfetti! The "Give a Hoot" glitter is one I particularly love, but maybe it's just cuz I'm oooold and everything and this is from back in my day!

Second (though it also goes with your profile look) is getting yourself into green gear! Once you've got your earthy look together, share it through the Facebook Connect feature and send a Tweet to get others to do the same!

2. Host a party!
Whether you do it inside or outside, gather your pals to make a green themed scene in your dorm. This is a great way to get together and talk about different ways all of us can make an impact. You can get some great ideas for new things you can do and also find out some cool stuff about people! Here's one thing I like to do when I have people over: keep a recycling bin handy! (Hint: Don't forget to check out the Daily Keepsakes.)

Item: Recycle Bin
Date: September 22, 2009

3. Join the event!
The Zwinky Environmental Committee is sponsoring an eco-rally in the Park until the end of April. You're already
